Litepaper

Version 1.0 (V1)

20 July 2026

A paper-money trading skill competition. No real money is traded in competitions. This document is an informational overview only.

1. The problem we're solving

Millions of people believe they can trade. Very few ever find out if they are actually good — or get a fair chance to turn that skill into a livelihood. The trading world has two broken doors:

- For skilled people: there is no fair, transparent way to prove trading skill and be recognised for it. Winning streaks lie, screenshots can be faked, and luck masquerades as talent.
- For everyday investors: the market is full of unregistered 'tip sellers' and unverifiable claims. It is hard to know who is genuinely skilled and who is just loud.

AIYUG connects these two problems into one solution: a fair, skill-based competition platform where people trade with virtual money on real market data, prove their ability on a single transparent leaderboard, and — for those who reach the top and become properly certified — a structured path toward a professional analyst career. No real money is ever at risk in the competitions. Skill is measured, not claimed.

2. What AIYUG is

AIYUG is a paper-money trading competition platform. Everyone in a competition starts with the same virtual capital, chooses what they want to trade, and trades live against real market data. Performance is ranked purely by return on a single, ongoing leaderboard shared across the whole platform. The most skilled rise over time — and each month has its own highlighted champion.

- Paper money only. No competition order ever reaches a real exchange. Nothing you own is at risk.
- Same start for everyone. Identical virtual capital — a level playing field.
- Ranked by return. Pure, transparent performance.
- You choose your arena. Pick the category and instruments you know best.
- One leaderboard. A single transparent board for the whole platform — no confusing separate seasons.
- Fair and verifiable. Real market prices and transparent results.

3. The journey — from participant to professional

Stage 1 — Join

You discover AIYUG through our lead-generation form or listings and sign up. On signup you are a Member.

Stage 2 — Choose your arena and compete

You pick the race category that suits you — crypto, forex, Indian stocks, options and more — and the specific instruments you want to trade. Your status becomes Participant. You receive virtual capital and trade live on real market data.

Stage 3 — Climb the leaderboard

Your performance places you on AIYUG's single, ongoing leaderboard. As you compete month after month, consistent skill lifts you up the board.

Stage 4 — Win the month, reach the top

Each month, the standout performer is showcased as that month's champion, highlighted separately on the leaderboard. Over time, the most consistent performers rise toward the top.

Stage 5 — Get certified (we help you)

Top performers who wish to pursue an analyst career are supported to become SEBI-registered Research Analysts. We provide dedicated preparation material created from official sources to help them clear the NISM Research Analyst certification.

Stage 6 — Become a professional analyst

Once certified and onboarded within the appropriate regulatory structure, top performers may operate as analysts on the platform, within SEBI's framework.

Stage 7 — Build a following and a career

As a professional analyst on AIYUG, you have a structured opportunity to build a subscriber base and be compensated through a defined structure. Growth is tied to the quality and track record of your work.

Why this matters: in India, professionally providing research and trade recommendations is a regulated activity governed by SEBI. AIYUG's path is built to be done properly — through proper certification and registration — not around the rules. This protects both our analysts and the investors who follow them.

4. The competition system — races

AIYUG runs competitions on a month-to-month basis. Everyone trades the same starting virtual capital, and performance is ranked by return on the shared leaderboard. Each month brings a fresh chance to top the board and be crowned that month's champion.

You choose your category

Rather than being told what to trade, you pick the arena that fits your skill. AIYUG offers distinct race categories, for example:

Category	What you trade
Crypto	Major coins and altcoins
Forex	Currency pairs and metals (e.g. gold)
Indian stocks	NSE / BSE equities
Options	Index and stock options
...and more	Additional categories as the platform grows

Within your chosen category, you select the specific instruments and setup you know best. Your edge, your arena.

Two ways to compete

- Strategy mode — build a rule-based approach and let it trade.
- Manual mode — trade live yourself, reacting to the market in real time.

5. The leaderboard and how you rise

AIYUG has one leaderboard — a single, transparent, ongoing board for the whole platform. This is deliberately simple: no confusing separate seasons, just one place where skill is measured and shown.

- The overall board is cumulative — it rewards sustained skill over time, so climbing it means something.
- Monthly champions are highlighted separately — a fresh, winnable spotlight that anyone can claim, even newcomers.
- Honest feedback. After races you get specific observations on what to improve — turning every result into progress.

6. The opportunity — how skill can become a livelihood

Important: AIYUG offers a structured opportunity, not a guarantee of income. Earnings depend on individual performance, certification, regulatory compliance, and the quality of an analyst's work. Nothing here is a promise of specific returns or earnings, and AIYUG does not collect money from participants as a promise of profit.

For those who complete the journey and become certified analysts, AIYUG is designed to offer a defined structure rather than the uncertainty most independent analysts face:

- A base structure — a defined component for onboarded analysts, providing stability independent operators rarely have.
- Performance-linked component — tied to the analyst's subscriber base and the demonstrated quality of their published research over time.
- Growth tied to merit — an analyst's opportunity grows with their track record and the value they provide, not with hype.

The core idea: turn demonstrated, verified skill into a legitimate professional path — with the platform providing the certification support, the audience, the tools, and the compliant structure that an individual would struggle to build alone.

7. The value for everyday investors

For everyday investors, AIYUG offers something rare: access to research from analysts whose skill was demonstrated and verified on a public leaderboard before they were ever certified.

- Analysts you can follow earned their place through transparent, skill-based competition — not marketing.
- Their track record is visible on the leaderboard.
- All professional research is provided within SEBI's regulatory framework.

Investors should always make their own decisions. Following any analyst carries risk, and past performance never guarantees future results. AIYUG facilitates access to research within the regulatory framework; it does not guarantee outcomes and does not promise profits.

8. Fairness and trust

Skill-based competition only means something if the results are trustworthy. AIYUG is built for verifiable fairness:

- Real market data. Competitions run on live prices from established market data sources.
- Independently checkable fills. Because competitions use public market data (e.g. major crypto exchanges), a fill price can be checked against the real market at that exact moment — by anyone.
- Transparent results. Leaderboard results are published so rankings can be independently confirmed.
- Tamper-evidence (roadmap). As stakes grow, competition records are designed to be cryptographically anchored so results cannot be quietly altered after the fact.

9. Compliance as a foundation

- The competitions are paper-money games — no real trading, no investment advice, no KYC barrier to play.
- Professional research is regulated. AIYUG is in the process of obtaining SEBI Research Analyst registration for the entity, so that research and calls provided to subscribers are delivered properly and compliantly.
- We help our top performers get certified. The RA path is part of the journey, done by the book.
- Clear separation. The skill game and the regulated research activity are distinct, with certification and proper registration as the gateway between them.

10. The vision

AIYUG's vision is simple: make trading skill provable, and make proven skill valuable. For the talented, it is a fair path from 'I think I'm good' to a recognised, certified, professional career. For everyday investors, it is access to analysts who earned their credibility on a transparent leaderboard before they ever gave a single call.

One leaderboard. Real skill. A monthly champion. And for those who go all the way — a future.

AIYUG — Showcase your money talent.
